SANTA CLAUS (second grader Charles Cataldo) made a visit to Lacy school last week and drew great interest from such kindergarten students as (l. to r.) Den Hedberg, Cindy Newton, Karen Albaugh, Donny Lyle, Janet Reynolds and David Hurst.

LOTS OF FUN was provided families of K. of C. members Sunday at the annual Christmas party. Highlighting the acts was this performance by Jocko the Clown (Benny Scalise), Old Paint (Joe Musante and Ange Juliano), and emcee Frank Chiodo.

AN ATTRACTIVE Christmas display made by a talented patient at the Warren State Hospital. Constructed from odds and ends ranging from old pieces of clothing to coat hangers, the display is added to each holiday season.

CROWNED KING AND QUEEN of the Annual Belle-Ball Saturday night were Diane Anderson, Beaty freshman, and John Carter, Warren high junior.

SNOW BALL DANCE queen Sally Edmiston as her escort, Jim Bidwell, looks on. The dance is sponsored by the Jr. high Y-Teens.

A QUESTION OF MORALITY

From Princeton, N. J., comes this protest: "On tonight's 'Climax' program, John Drew Barrymore starred in a script about the problem of a student cheating on a college exam. The case is complicated because our hero is something of a paranoiac as well as a student trying hard. The show was quite well done, I thought, but the central theme -- that each case of cheating must be dealt with according to individual motivations and in some instances condoned -- is specious to say the least.

"The poor guy who got caught was failed. The smart guys who didn't get caught passed. Our sympathies were obviously directed in favor of the poor sick one who was caught, and the professor who flunked him was the unthinking culprit because he had no mercy. Now I may be a bug on the subject but it seems to me this thesis is a mighty dangerous symptomatic one. Recently there was a remarkable and horrifying article in 'The New Yorker' about American troops' behavior in Korean and Chinese prison camps. We have also been reading much about American softness. The thesis of 'Two Tests on Tuesday' reflects to a sickening degree the kind of background which has produced whatever softness there may be, as exemplified by the American prisoners in Korea.

"If we were to take this argument to its logical extreme, we'd have to admire dishonesty in someone who is a sympathetic character and condemn those who don't understand."

That letter is typical of a good many I have had lately complaining -- quite rightly, I think -- about the moral and ethical points of view of dramatic shows. I didn't see "Two Tests on Tuesday" but I have the script here and I must admit that the sympathy bit is loaded on the side of the college student. The poor kid works in a parking lot to pay his way through college. That, plus his school work, means he gets only four hours sleep a night. He is approaching the point of complete exhaustion. He has a wife and child. His whole future is tied up in whether he passes his exam or not.

So how can you fail to feel that the professor should pass him? But the trouble with this kind of playwriting is that it is unethical. A great many heroes -- from Oedipus Rex to Hamlet -- have had a bum shake from the outset; they have been put, by circumstances outside their control, into intolerable positions. Just the same, retribution caught up with them because it had to.

This is the nature of tragedy. Society demands certain penalties for certain transgressions and when you make exceptions for whatever reasons -- I am not speaking of the courts now but of dramatic works -- you weaken the moral fabric of your play. And in every viewer there is a little weakening of his own moral fiber. All of us, from day to day, have to withstand temptations of some sort. If we see weakness condoned for whatever reason, it pulls the rug out from under the rest of us.

I hate to strike such a righteous attitude but I feel strongly that dramatically it leaves the playgoer unsatisfied. Anna Karenina had every reason to leave her husband; she is an enormously sympathetic character; we wish she could find happiness. But, if she had found happiness in adultery, would "Anna Karenina" have been the great book that it is? Would we not have put the book down feeling vaguely troubled and unsatisfied?

Recently another dramatic show -- I forget which one -- had a story in which the hero kited some checks. He got away with it because everyone was so understanding and sympathetic about his problems, which were all of his own making. But this kind of sympathy, while it might be nice to have in your neighbor, is not at all satisfying on television and there have been increasing complaints from viewers who feel that morally their TV set is betraying them.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

TAX TIME

You pay most of your local taxes in the early fall, but the decisions which determine the size of them are now being made. In the next two or three months nearly every governing body in the county will have decided how much it needs for the coming year and must find the source of its income.

The source, of course, is you, but that "you" takes in quite a variety of incomes, ranging from the man on social security to the gentleman who collects stock dividends and enjoys watching his tax exempt municipal bond checks roll in. How to reach all in fair proportion is the vexing problem facing most officials, and unfortunately the majority of them can do nothing about it.

The tax structure in Pennsylvania is a thing that has grown and sprouted in a heterogeneous manner, though our adjective is not entirely fitting. Most of the taxes available are quite similar basically, and they are not entirely accidents. They are tailored to avoid true fairness, and there is no such thing as a graduated tax to fit the pocketbook of the payer.

The public, of course, isn't going to do anything about this unfair situation for several reasons. First, it is not organized and is very uninformed. Secondly, it does not want to face facts and would rather pay an unfair hidden tax than demand that the laws be changed so that each will pay according to his ability. If this happens the taxpayer will see the bill and he doesn't like it that way.

Proof of this is the income tax. There is much room for improvement in the federal income tax, but it is a far better assessment than the miscellaneous levies Pennsylvania uses to finance its state, county, and local governments. But the public has not been sold on an income tax for the simple reason that those who control our various propaganda mills, including the press, radio, and television, or a vast majority of them, have opposed such an assessment. They like it the way it is for the obvious reason that they escape a fair share of the load.

UN SOUND TAXES

The real estate tax on which most boroughs and counties depend heavily for income is not basically sound. And no matter how fair a job the present assessing firm does for Warren county, we will not have a proportionate answer to our tax load.

The property assessments if made absolutely fair as to actual value of the homes and land involved still would mean that we would be taxing people on the basis of what they spend and not on what they earn or by the amount they benefit from our kind of society. As long as we obtain our revenue on the basis of expenditures and not on the basis of the ability to pay, our taxes will be inequitable.

Those living in the same community enjoy the same benefits, yet one may choose to invest his money in a $15,000 home while another buys a $7,000 relic and puts the rest of his earnings in tax free bonds. Both enjoy the same municipal advantages, but one pays fifty per cent more of the costs. Fair?

To top this off many of our boroughs, and townships, levy a per capita tax on each person twenty-one years of age or over. This is an absolutely flat rate, whether you have five dependents or none. In fact if all your dependents are over twenty-one you pay a flat per capita on every one of them, while a wealthy bachelor pays only on himself.

We avoid the wage tax in Warren county while accepting the per capita. Though the wage tax is not ideal because the Pennsylvania constitution prevents us from having graduated assessments of any kind, it is based on income and naturally the larger income pays the larger tax. Fair enough?

COUNTY REACHES SOME

The county is the only political subdivision that is making use of a medium which reaches those who have a bit of wealth. The commissioners enjoy the income from the personal property tax, which is a 4 mill assessment against certain stocks and similar holdings. It yields about $90,000. This is more than the $84,000 brought into the county by the occupations tax, and is a third of the $270,000 amount produced by the real estate tax.

It obviously serves to reach some of the wealthier sections which otherwise would not pay what they can afford. In Warren's First Ward where much wealth is located, the property value is set at only $1,070,320. This Ward pays only $9,244 in real estate tax to the county.

The Fourth, despite its low assessments, has a total of $1,264,460, and pays $10,822 to the county. More than the First Ward!

But the county makes up for this through the personal property tax. Residents of the First Ward have stocks and bonds valued at $4,523,188. At four mills they pay the county $18,092, twice as much as they pay on real estate.

The Fourth Ward residents have wealth in these kind of securities valued at only $426,551, and pay only $1,706 in personal property tax. Thus the Fourth Ward's total payment to the county is $15,913, half of the First Ward amount, thanks to a tax that does in a small way reach those who can afford to pay.

(This is not a completely fair example because most of the Fourth Ward assessments are based on industrial plant values.)

One of the wealthiest communities in the area based on personal property holdings that are taxable under this law is Tidioute. Its real estate valuation is only $465,400. But its personal property holdings total $670,898, one of the few political subdivisions in the county to have more personal wealth registered than it does real estate. There are only four others, the First, Second, Third, and Fifth Wards in Warren.

This offers the county the unique advantage of being able to reach such money in a small way. A wage or income tax in our boroughs and townships would do it even better.

STRANGE MEASURE

But the personal property tax is not a fair solution. It too is based on what you spend and how you spend it instead of on how able you are to pay. It is possible to have much money, invest it in the right kind of stocks or bonds and escape the personal property tax. Thus one man escapes taxation completely while another may pay heavily.

This piece is not written as a shot at the wealthy. Most of us are willing to pay our fair share if we are certain that all are doing so. Such is not possible at present with a tax base that determines your assessments according to how you spend your income rather than how much you receive.

Most of our taxes in this state are so measured. Our purchases yield almost $200 million in sales taxes, our use of gasoline provides $178 million, cigarettes cost us $56 million in taxes, beverages nick us for $46 million, registration fees for automobiles cost us over $80 million.

Why not turn it around and obtain this revenue according to what each can afford? An overhaul of our tax structure is long overdue, just as a modernization of our antique state constitution is very much needed. The two, of course, are synonymous.

An ancient law of India called for the widow to cremate herself on the funeral pyre of her husband. And were they burned up?

BUYERS' CORNER

DEPRESSION COMING UP?

The answer to that one depends a bit on what you call a "depression". Certainly we may have a recession . . . already are having one. When work hours are reduced, men laid off, and the stock market sags, most of us are feeling the results of a receding economy. Or we will feel it in a few months if the present trend continues.

A major share of us vividly remember the last. Explaining, perhaps, the tendency of many to ease up on their buying despite the fact that they are not really suffering any financial loss at the present time. It is the memory of how far a dollar had to go during those workless days that stays the spending hand in the face of lay-offs and talk of rough times ahead.

The most frightening aspect of that thought is the small value of a dollar today. If a man had a couple thousand dollars stashed away during the last depression he was in a strong position. The basic needs could be met while he scratched out some kind of a living. The mortgage would not be foreclosed. But two thousand dollars today would not keep a family in food and clothing under a warm roof for a very extensive period. Five thousand would be much more useful, but how many working men have five thousand dollars tucked away?

Dance

We have many cushions to ease a depression today. In fact we have enough of them possibly to change a light depression into a deep recession. Legislation passed as the result of the last depression, setting up several protections, will change the reaction to troublesome times.

There should be no run on the banks. No matter whether you are the first in line or the last, your deposits are insured by the government. We are relaxed on that score, and relaxation is an important item in times of economic pressure.

If you are laid off there still will be some money coming in, thanks to unemployment insurance. It may not be a very big amount, but it is better than soup lines, poorly organized relief, and the need to sell all but your soul, and perhaps some of that, in order to obtain public assistance.

If you are retired, troubled times may find you better off than you are now. Social security payments will have more value if prices are forced down by a depression. You will have no worries such as those which plagued the older people during the last depression. Many of them still were trying to do a bit of work or were helped by their children. They were the first ones to be discharged or those on whom they were dependent were unable to help. It is much different today.

Another major difference is the mental attitude of public officials today. The fear of heavy spending has been reduced and Washington would move much faster today if it became necessary to provide jobs in case of a national emergency. It might not move fast enough to suit many of us, but faced with heavy unemployment it would not have the reluctance that existed in such circles thirty years ago.

SIGNS OF TROUBLE

There are signs of recessive troubles and we should be facing them. If they really develop in a major way, we should be prepared to act, as a people and as a government. The latter may be forced by the alertness of the former.

There are many lay-offs and unemployment is the highest it has been in several years. If it continues to increase, down goes buying power.

There is less overtime in many shops, and we do not need tell hundreds of employees that they are not filling their hours with solid work these days. Less of them are needed, even though many plants are not thinning the ranks.

Recessive signs are relative. If people become nervous about the future they will stop spending dollars for the durable goods, such as household appliances, furniture, cars, homes, and items requiring time payments. This of course, increases unemployment. A vicious circle.

Though public officials today are more apt to spend money for made work than was the case in the 1920's, the current administration may even reduce such expenditures before it increases them. It will not surprise us if the present administration recommends the increase of mis-sile spending at the cost of public works, and will spend less for other forms of armament.

It also would not surprise us if many who are major powers behind the administration would like to create a bit of unemployment in hopes of slapping down labor. The same people are not very apt to reduce the prices of their products. The reason for this is the lack of competition. They possess what amounts to a monopoly, and they are locked by the horns with the biggest of the unions in a strikeless but very silent and potent struggle.

The politics of this may cause Washington leaders to lose their nerve. No one wants to be beaten at the polls. However, they are playing with something they may not be able to control. At least not with ease of manipulation.

If we are correct in our suspicions we expect to see a deeper recession during the next few months than some would like to have. But by the end of 1959, tool-makers will be hustling and dollars will be spent. We are not pessimistic about the long run future, but the bigs may squeeze many littles into debt or out of business this coming year.

Advice to the lovelorn is the oldest syndicated feature in newspapers. Which explains why a publication as fresh as the Observer doesn't have one.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

The mistletoe's above the door,
 The mantel's hung with pine,
 And every frosted windowpane
 Is bright with candleshine . . .

At last the children are in bed
 And parents smile to see
 The growing pile of dreams-come-true
 Beneath the star-tipped tree.

Far off, the church bells bless the night
 With wind-blown, silvery chime—
 May Joy and Peace be with us all
 Until next Christmas-time!

Think of all the innocent people who would be convicted of crimes if it weren't for Perry Mason. ***

WHY OPPOSE FREE PRESS?

We notice that much opposition to mail subsidies is being inspired by postal officials these days. Why is it so wrong to subsidize free press by making second class mail rates low enough to assure the circulation of our newspapers, while we give billions to the airlines, river transportation, railroads, and other industries?

We suggest that freedom of the press is far more important than all of them put together. Without it you may have none of them. ***

of July celebration, and our Scouts have visited them. We believe the Warren Boy choir also visited Ontario. ***

GOOD ANNUITY

If you have a few acres of vacant land on which you probably never will plant crops, why not put it to work. About twenty-five years from now it will pay off, and meanwhile you do nothing but enjoy it.

There are 9,745 such acres in Warren county and the Department of Forests and Waters would like to see it planted in trees. Hard pines and larch are in demand for pulp wood, and if enough planting is done, new industry may be attracted to make use of it.

If you think we are talking small stuff, it is estimated that the acres in Warren county would be worth over two million dollars in twenty-five years if planted now. Or about $25 an acre.

The tree seedlings are available for reforestation of idle lands. The cost of machine planting is small. If you want some for your idle land, apply soon, because the supply is limited and when spring rolls around you might not be able to obtain any. ***

SIGNS OF BAD TIMES?

Michigan and Ohio are not happy about their sales tax receipts, which have fallen off to a point where both states may have to either increase the percentage or find another tax. No buying, no tax. A ridiculous base for taxation in any state. ***

CAR SALES AFFECT PROGRAMS

The slip of Buick to fourth position in the car sales race may alter some of your tv programs or provide you with new ones. Buick is after the third place taken over by Plymouth, and to do it must get by Oldsmobile which is fourth.

Its Patrice Munsel show has not been very popular and is being moved to the 9:30 spot on the same evening in hopes of gaining more audience. The Wells Fargo show, like most well done westerns, is doing well with the public, but is only half owned by Buick.

Defense Trouble May Mean Tax New Deal

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON -- We could get a new deal in taxes out of the circumstances of defense program needs.

This is a suggestion of our new Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilber D. Mills (D., Ark.). He wants us to take a real look at inequities in our tax laws which still are full of loopholes and due for overhauling. This will be done at committee hearings early in January as were ordered by the late Rep. Jere Cooper (D., Tenn.), before the former chairman died last week.

Never has there been such a propitious occasion for Congress and our people to dramatize the need of sacrifice for our defense program, and to close tax loopholes so that there can be equality of sacrifices. If powerful interests who have been evading their just tax burdens really intend to sacrifice for our common defense, then it is the time now.

It would, indeed, be an opportunity for the 48-year-old Arkansas leader, one of the handful of the most powerful figures in Congress. It would require boldness and courage. How much of a job it would be for Rep. Mills he, himself, well knows. For he is perhaps the outstanding authority in the House on inequities of tax law. He has worked long and hard as head of a subcommittee that has been trying to root out loopholes.

But with considerable ill success. He and some of his colleagues have butted against the powers-that-be in Congress, both House and Senate. Everywhere there are the sacred cows and untouchables. For instance, there is the special privilege in oil's 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance, and other special allowances, which is carefully protected by the two topmost leaders of the Democratic party -- Speaker of House Sam Rayburn and Senate leader Lyndon Johnson, both of Texas.

There are other special privileges protected by powerful interests, including the capital gains tax, special treatment for insurance companies, and numerous other privileges.

Rep. Mills knows the score. Will he dare to buck the wheels-within-wheels of power?

Young, ambitious and, at his age, he can in time aspire to the Speakership. Slowly he had moved up to the pedestal of the chairmanship of the biggest, single, most influential committee in Congress, with its jurisdiction over taxes, tariffs, Social Security, and other matters. He also has another post of power involved in that. This is the chairmanship of the Democratic Committee on Committees which is embodied in the 15 Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, the hierarchy. It assigns committee posts.

The new chairman is even more influential because of the impact of fast-moving events in which tax policy must play in our defense crisis. This calls not only for more money for defense, but we must calculate on a lower tax yield because of the slow-down of our economy. Intricately affected is the budget.

We may not be able to do the trick without additional tax revenue. Our situation is less satisfactory than when Rep. Mills fought a tax reduction in the last session of Congress and won his way against Speaker Rayburn and Democratic House Floor Leader, Rep. John McCormack (D., Mass.). Since then the Russian sputniks have gone aloft, and we have gone almost crazy over rockets and missiles, and the economic picture is increasingly less favorable.

Most important, then, is the time of sacrifice for the task outlined by our new Ways and Means Committee chairman to root out inequities in our tax laws. Indeed, the committee could find enough loopholes by which privileged interests can finance two billions for the defense program, maybe more. Saving should begin here.

The forgotten people are the low and middle income brackets who have paid and paid. Virtually nothing has been done for them in the way of tax relief for years. The Eisenhower Administration was busy helping big business corporations and wealthy taxpayers with liberalizing depreciation allowances, special treatments of dividends, special tax write-offs, and the like.

In fact, in his last interview, just before his death, the late Chairman Cooper said he intended to "look into basic policies underlying our tax laws," and with particular emphasis on the share borne by low and middle income groups. They are still waiting patiently.

It should be the turn of the tax evaders to sacrifice for their country, which is theirs, too.

A BIG FEED of tasty Christmas dishes and the exchange of gifts marked a nice Christmas party for Warren Court House employees last Friday.

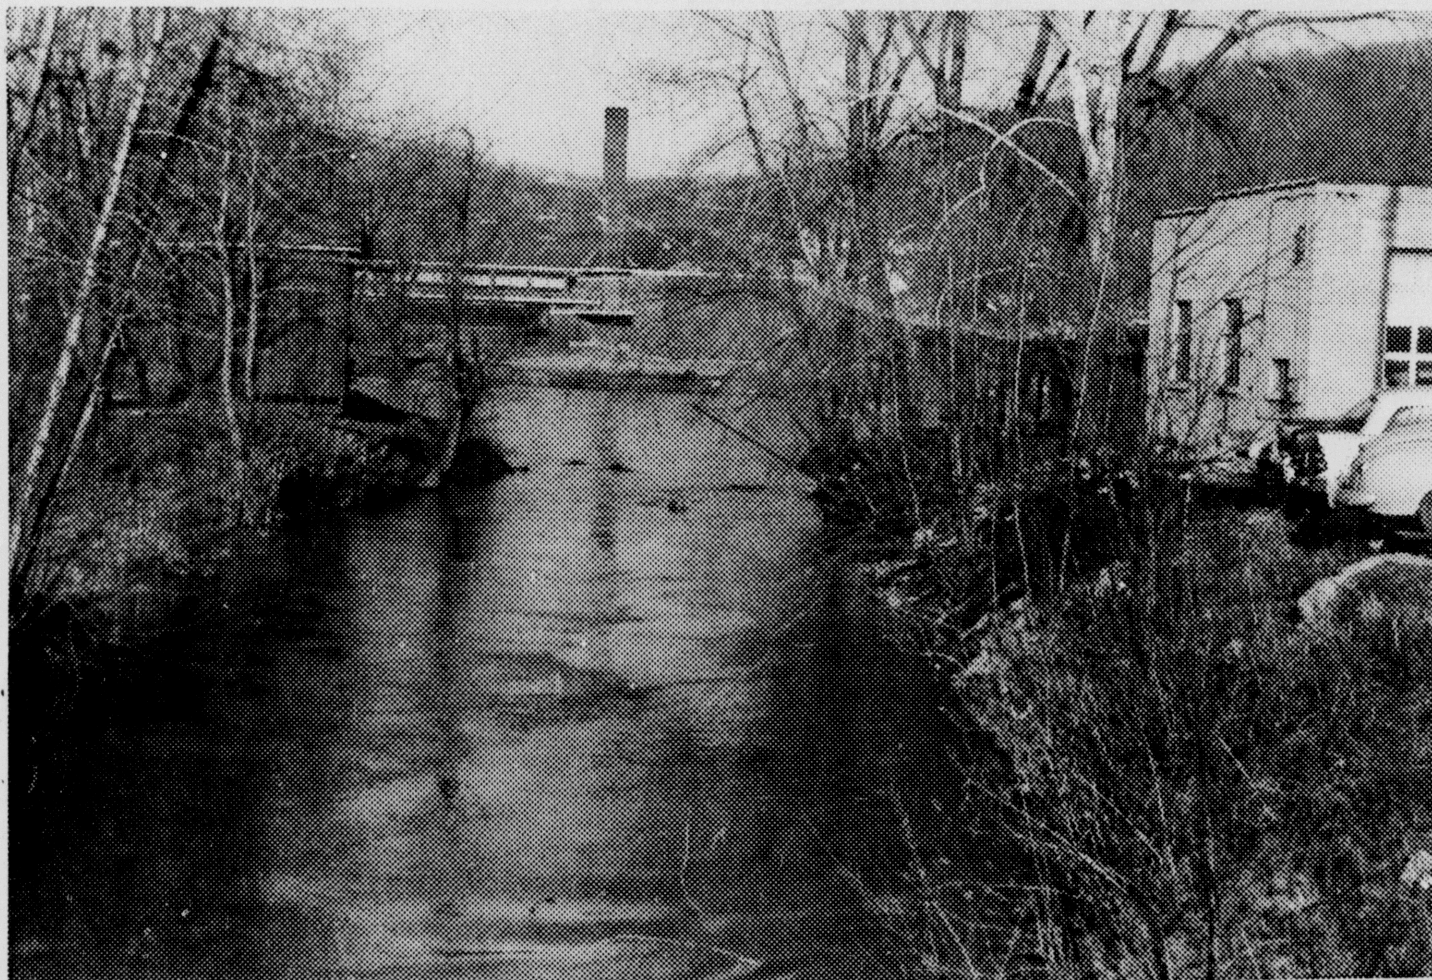

Commissioner chairman Blain Mead arranged the affair.

MISS TERESA MARIE FINO

Miss Teresa Marie Fino, a student of voice in New York City, was heard here last Friday in a special Philomel Club musical program.

The former Warren girl was presented again today in a half-hour tape recorded show over radio station WNAE at 2:30.

ALMOST HIGH. The Conewango creek was most affected by the hard rains Friday night. Another night of it and Beaty school might have got damp. Here we see the school through the opening that leads into what once was the millrace, and now is a relief elbow for the narrow Pennsylvania ave. bridge.

In Brief

WATCH FOR A RUSH of post season sales. Though merchants enjoyed a last day rush of Christmas business, inventories are high on most shelves. The answer is "bargain offers". The nation's merchants are expected to have a greater than usual number of them with a sincere effort to move goods. ***

TIME TO REGISTER. Aliens are reminded that they must make their annual registration during the month of January. Forms are available at the post office. The exceptions are diplomats, those accredited to some international organizations, and temporary agriculture workers. This probably explains why the applications for naturalization are always thirty per cent higher this time of year than the rest of the seasons. ***

GOOD TIME SIGNS also are present these days. Warren county bought more government bonds, $99,187, in November than they did in the corresponding month of last year when it accounted for only $67,006 worth.

And drives for community chest and united fund money in many Pennsylvania communities this year went over the quotas, even though the goals were higher than ever. These include Warren, Butler, Emporium, Allentown, Carlisle, Lebanon, Spring City, Scranton, Sharon, Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Meadville, and Chester, to name a few. ***

KEEP ALERT by doing the same while driving as you do at work. Stop for a coffee break. So advises the Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania. The holidays took 1115 lives on our highways last year. Break the hypnosis of speed and travel by stopping for a non-alcoholic beverage. ***

THE THREE AREA YOUNG MEN who received suspended sentences in the $300 burglary of Pine Woods restaurant earlier this month and then agreed to waive extradition to New York State, changed their minds when they appeared Wednesday before Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr. They are Richard Elslager, 22, Youngsville, Calvin Marsh, 20, and Donald Emerson, 19, both of Titusville.

The trio will remain in Warren County Jail for several weeks now until New York State officials complete extradition procedures with Gov. Leader. They are wanted in New York for the armed hold-up of a Sherman bakery December 5.

The suspended one to five year sentences granted in Warren last Friday were for two car thefts and the burglary mentioned above. ***

THREE WERE INJURED and taken to Warren General Hospital Tuesday after a two-car collision at 5:45 p. m. a half mile west of Warren on Route 6.

The mishap occurred when Willie Sidon, R. D. 2, Warren, came over a brow of a hill on the wrong side of the highway and struck Kenneth Nelson, Meadville, head-on.

The Warren man suffered a possible fractured skull, concussion of the brain, severe cuts over both eyes and shock. The other driver acquired a fractured right knee cap, cut lips and body bruises, while his passenger, Lillian Nelson, received fractures of the left knee cap, left ribs and left arm, a cut forehead and possible skull fracture. ***

A PAIR OF RECKLESS DRIVING charges were made by Warren police during the past week.

The first followed a 10:45 p. m. accident Saturday when William Mervine, 1211 Conewango ave., ext., Warren, swung too wide onto Fourth ave. off Liberty st., struck the left front of a parked car, went over the curb 58 feet, hit the rear of a second parked auto, driving the latter 30 feet into a third vehicle.

The driver was charged in the $1675 accident.

Parked autos involved belonged to Joseph F. Rowland, Youngsville; Carl H. Uhlig, Jr., R. D. 1, Warren; and Samuel Loomis, 19 Orchard st., Warren. *

Also arrested was Larry McCann, 307 Madison ave., who struck a parked car belonging to Shirley Kiser, Irvin, while he was proceeding east on Pennsylvania avenue, east, about 6:20 p. m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $500. ***

A TWO-CAR MISHAP at 1:45 p. m. last Thursday resulted in $800 loss and a driving "too fast for conditions" charge against Robert Pierce, 217 Parker st. Police state Pierce was going north of Park st. and came over to the left side while rounding a curve and hit an approaching auto driven by Sandra Green, 37 Locust st. He suffered a deep cut in the forehead. ***

BOTH CLAIMED the green light when Charles F. Sharp, R. D. 2, Warren, and Harold W. Blair, 508 W. Third st., collided at the Pennsylvania ave. and Hickory st. intersection at 4:25 p. m. Saturday. Damage caused amounted to $500. ***

$300 DAMAGE was inflicted when Richard Myers, 1102 Conewango ave., caught his windshield on the tail gate of a borough truck driven by Charles C. Luce, 414 Laurel st.,

Coming Events

COLLEGE TEA

Invitations have been issued to more than 100 college students to a tea which will be given by the Family Service and Children's Aid Society board of directors this coming Monday. The affair will start at 3:30 p. m. in service headquarters at 404 Market st.

Miss Eleanor E. Cockerill, professor of social casework at the University of Pittsburgh in the graduate School of Social Work, will discuss professional education for social work.

All local college students and recent graduates are invited. ***

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

"The Birth of Christ", a Christmas Pageant in two parts, will be held at 4:30 p. m. Sunday in Trinity Memorial Church. Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Yaegle are directing the production and music will be furnished by the combined choirs. ***

CHRISTMAS DANCE. A gala Round and Square dance will be held at the Tidoute High School Gym, Saturday night, December 28. The public is invited and tickets are now on sale. Music for the occasion will be provided by Pete Pepke and his Sagebrush Sidekicks. Friendly Bill Bar will start calling promptly at 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

at 1:50 p. m. Tuesday. The truck had stopped for a pedestrian when Myers attempted to swing around it. ***

ARRESTED for driving with faulty equipment Friday was Vincent J. D'Angelo, Jamestown, N. Y. He was proceeding south on Locust st. about 1:30 p. m. and, unable to stop because of brake failure, hit the rear fender of a car operated by Arlene L. Morris, 101 Main ave., who was going west on Pennsylvania ave.

Nearly $600 damage resulted and minor injuries were suffered by Lois Presher, 416 Chestnut st., and Nelly Carter, 810 Lexington ave., both passengers in the Warren car. ***

BOSSSES' NITE SPEAKER. Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to the President on disarmament affairs and announced candidate for a Republican gubernatorial nomination, will be the principal speaker at the Jaycees' annual "Bosses' Night" Banquet Tuesday, January 21. ***

BLOODMOBILE COMING. The next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile here will be made Monday, December 30. It will be located at the Warren State Hospital from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and all visitors are welcome.

The local Jaycee groups are backing this visit. ***

JUDGES FOR THE SELECTION of Warren County's Outstanding Young Farmer of 1957 will be Russell Molleanauer, agricultural extension County Agent in Crawford Co.; William Lazar, assistant County Agent in Venango Co.; and Fred Hughes, farm management specialist at the Pennsylvania State University.

The county winner of this Jaycee sponsored project will be announced at a public banquet to be held January 27 in the Penn Laurel Motel. ***

THE BOY TO BECOME the 1200th boy member of the Chief Cornplanter Council, Boy Scouts of America, will receive special recognition at the annual Recognition Dinner January 27. Council officials expect to reach this goal before the end of the year. ***

NAMED the outstanding new member of the Jaycees was Lowell Runkle, 1104 Pennsylvania ave., E. He has been active in the organization for less than 12 months. ***

AS SOON AS necessary arrangements are completed the Junior Chamber of Commerce will move its headquarters to the third floor over the Bradford Savings and Loan Co. on Liberty st. ***

It has been our pleasure to serve you in the past and to wish you the best in 1958!

Take It Easy
On Ice, Snow

By Jeanne Smith,
Dodge Safety Consultant

"WINTERIZING" your driving habits as well as your automobile is the secret to safe driving on snow and ice.

Here are five important rules for safe winter driving recommended by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council:

1. When pavements are slippery, take it easy while accelerating, braking and turning. Drive at a steady pace and get the "feel" of the road. To find out if the pavement is slick, try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly, away from traffic.

2. On snow or ice, stay well behind the car ahead. To avoid a rear collision, the distance between cars must be considerably greater than when the pavement is dry.

3. If you have to stop suddenly on ice, don't panic and jam or "freeze" on brakes. This may send your car into an uncontrollable skid. The best way to maintain full control of your car during a sudden stop is a fast up and down pumping of the brakes. If the rear starts to swing, release the brakes and steer in the direction of the skid.

4. Keep windshield wipers, heaters and defrosters in good working condition. You must see danger to avoid it.

5. Replace worn or smooth tires. Special snow tires are helpful and, for the worst ice and snow conditions, reinforced tire chains are necessary.

LOOK MAGAZINE TV AWARDS

The Observer TV Editor was invited, several weeks ago, to participate in Look Magazine's annual balloting for television awards. The results were announced last week and are carried in the current issue of Look. Perry Como will present the awards on his show Saturday night.

Your TV editor didn't go along with the crowd, apparently, as we were in agreement in only six out of sixteen categories:

Best Educational Series - Omnibus (which we voted second to Wide World).

Best Religious Series - Life Is Worth Living (our choice: Lamp Unto My Feet).

Best Children's Series - Disneyland (ours: Captain Kangaroo ahead of the winner.)

Best Public Affairs Series - See It Now (agreed).

Best Musical Series - Perry Como (why sure!)

Best Quiz or Panel - I've Got a Secret (again, o.k. with us).

Best Situation Comedy - Phil Silvers (wrong, again).

Best Half Hour Dramatic Series - Alfred Hitchcock (we liked GE Theatre better).

Best Hour-or-More Dramatic Series - Playhouse 90 (our choice, too).

Best Straight Comedy Series - Jack Benny (we're still faithful to Sid Caesar).

Best Dramatic Show - Green Pastures (Look agreed with us!)

Best Musical Show - Edsel Show (We can think of at least a half dozen that topped this choice).

Best Variety Series - Steve Allen (for our money, Ed Sullivan still has more variety).

Best Novelty Series - Tonight (we voted for You Are There).

Best Sports Series - World Series (our vote here).

Best Special Programs - World Series (We chose, in this order, Project 20, the presidential inauguration and the labor investigation hearings).

Networkwise, CBS and NBC rated seven winners each and ABC had two.

CHANNEL CHATTER

RICHARD DIAMOND, Private Detective returns to CBS network this week, a popular mystery-adventure series.

MAY LIVE

That John Crosby bit, The Seven Lively Arts, may not die as soon as some predict. Though it has no sponsor and is considered too good for common consumption, perhaps some are underestimating the public taste. People are beginning to look forward to the show, and when the dawn finally comes to the viewers, the clamor often follows. That is what keeps shows alive.

And to that bit of reasoning we can add something more solid. The trade talk has it that Mr. Crosby has been asked to sell several products on his show, but is opposed to having performers do the commercials.

In this he agrees with the majority of critics, of which he is one, who are opposed to performers being used to plug products. But if he has to do it to keep his program alive we will see how well he practices what he advocates.

SPORTS TO BE SEEN

BOXING - Joe Giardello, of Brooklyn, ranked third among middleweight contenders, battles Ralph "Tiger" Jones of Long Island in a 10-round bout at Miami Beach Auditorium Friday, December 27 at 10 p. m. This will be seen on NBC-TV's Cavalcade of Sports.

Highlights of 1957 in Pictures

(Next Week: Changes of '57... What in '58?)

INFERNO. By far the worst catastrophe to strike in the Warren area during 1957 was the $150,000 West Penn Refinery fire at North Warren.

Flames broke out shortly before two o'clock the afternoon of October 2. Nine persons escaped uninjured as raging flames and black smoke covered the area.

Whether the specialty oil compounding plant will be rebuilt on the present spot or relocated has not been revealed.

THIS DERAILMENT happened September 15 on the Pennsylvania tracks near Garland. Two men escaped serious injury in this one of several such occurrences throughout the year.

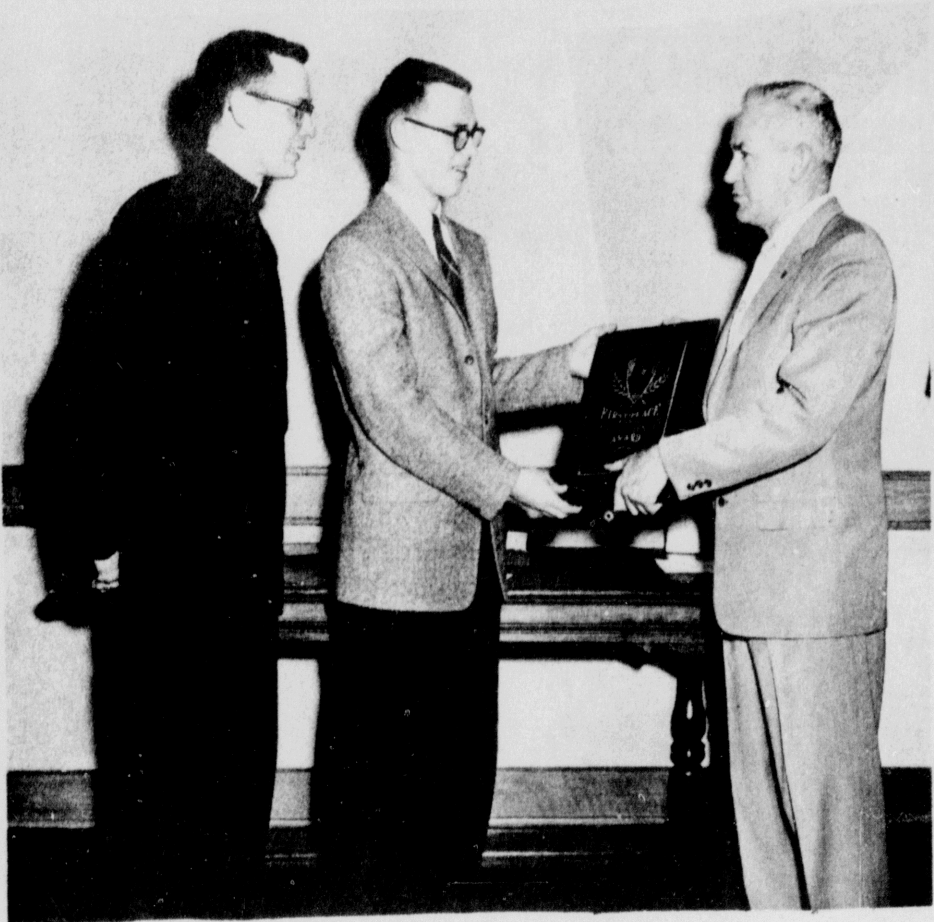

FATAL. This two-car accident that occurred on the Kiantone rd. near the New York State line October 26 took the life of a 54-year-old Jamestown, N.Y., woman.

She was one of nine fatally injured in traffic mishaps in Warren County during the year 1957.

The car at the right was operated by Robert Simonsen, Warren, and the other by Frank Adams, Frewsburg, N.Y.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS....1957

THE JUNIOR CITIZENSHIP award made by the Jaycees to an outstanding young person in the county went to Richard Aldrich, of Warren. At the left is chairman Rev. Bruce R. Ryan and at the right is Paul Miller, superintendent of Kane schools.

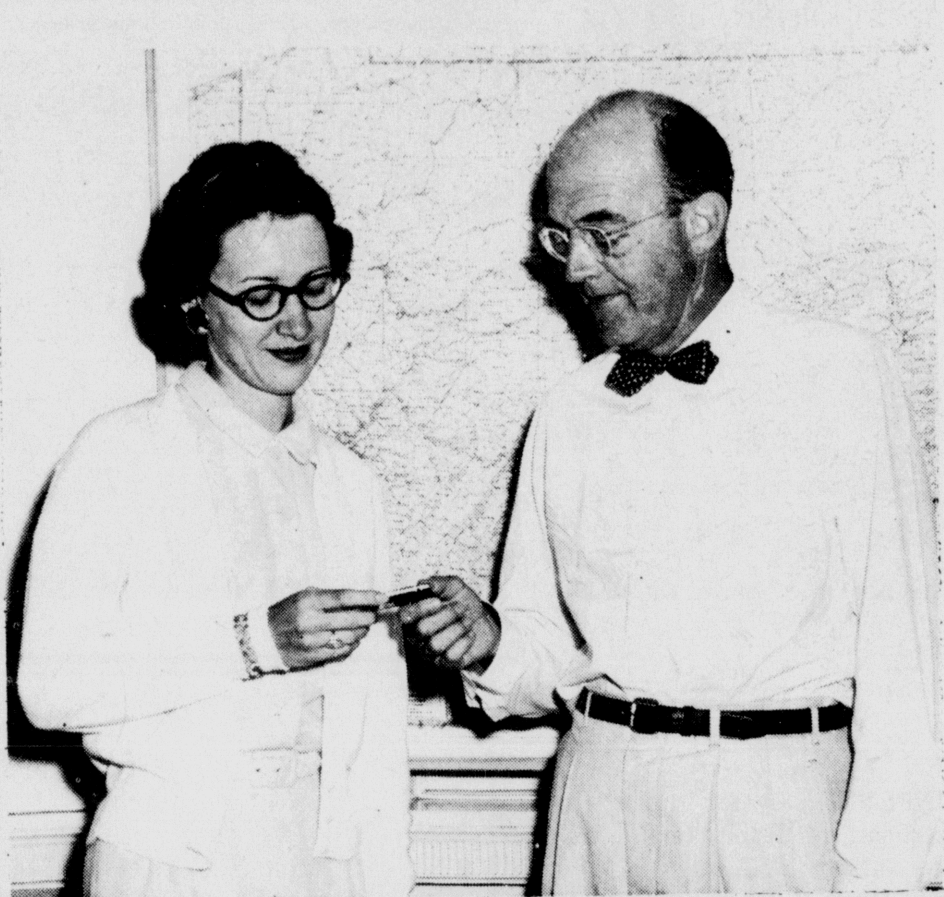

THE COVETED SILVER BEAVER Award for outstanding work in Boy Scouts was presented to James Blomquist (l.) who is pictured with his wife, Eagle Scout Doug Arnold and Carl Rogers.

THE "THANKS BADGE", highest award in adult scouting, was presented Mrs. Victor Spattifor of the Warren-Forest County Council of Girl Scouts. Giving the badge is Mrs. John Kirk.

HONORED with a Life Membership in the American Contact Bridge League was James Valone.

WARREN'S YOUTH AMBASSADOR to Switzerland this summer was Miss Dawn Taft, a member of the Warren high school faculty. She is pictured with Burgess William E. Rice.

AFTER 20-YEARS of service with the State Employment Security office, David W. Levine retired.

ELECTED DISTRICT 14-J Governor of Lions International was Elbert W. Nine. He is also local club president.

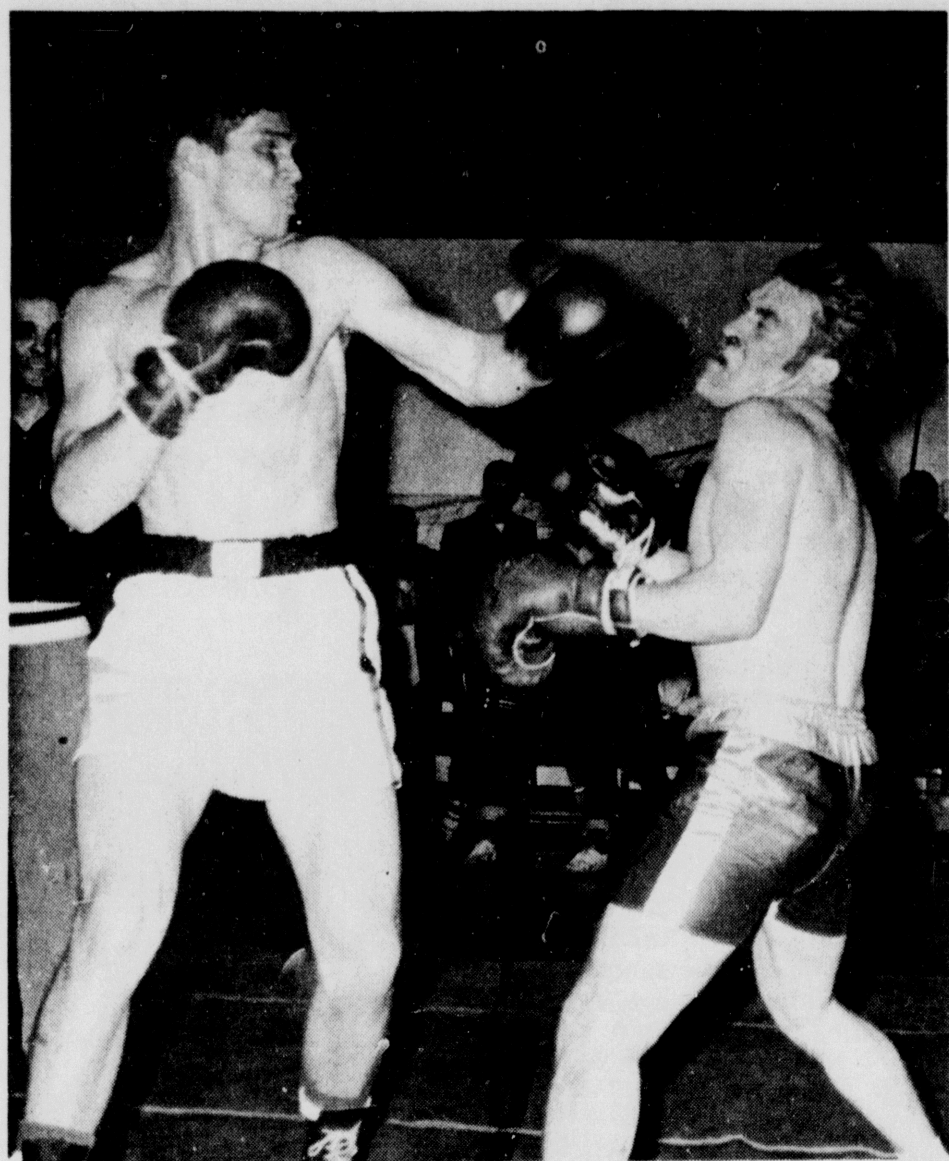

LAST JANUARY Charles R. Tranter (l.) executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, was named by the Jaycees as Warren's outstanding young man. The plaque was presented by K. Earl Abel, Jr., past executive vice president of the state Junior Chamber.

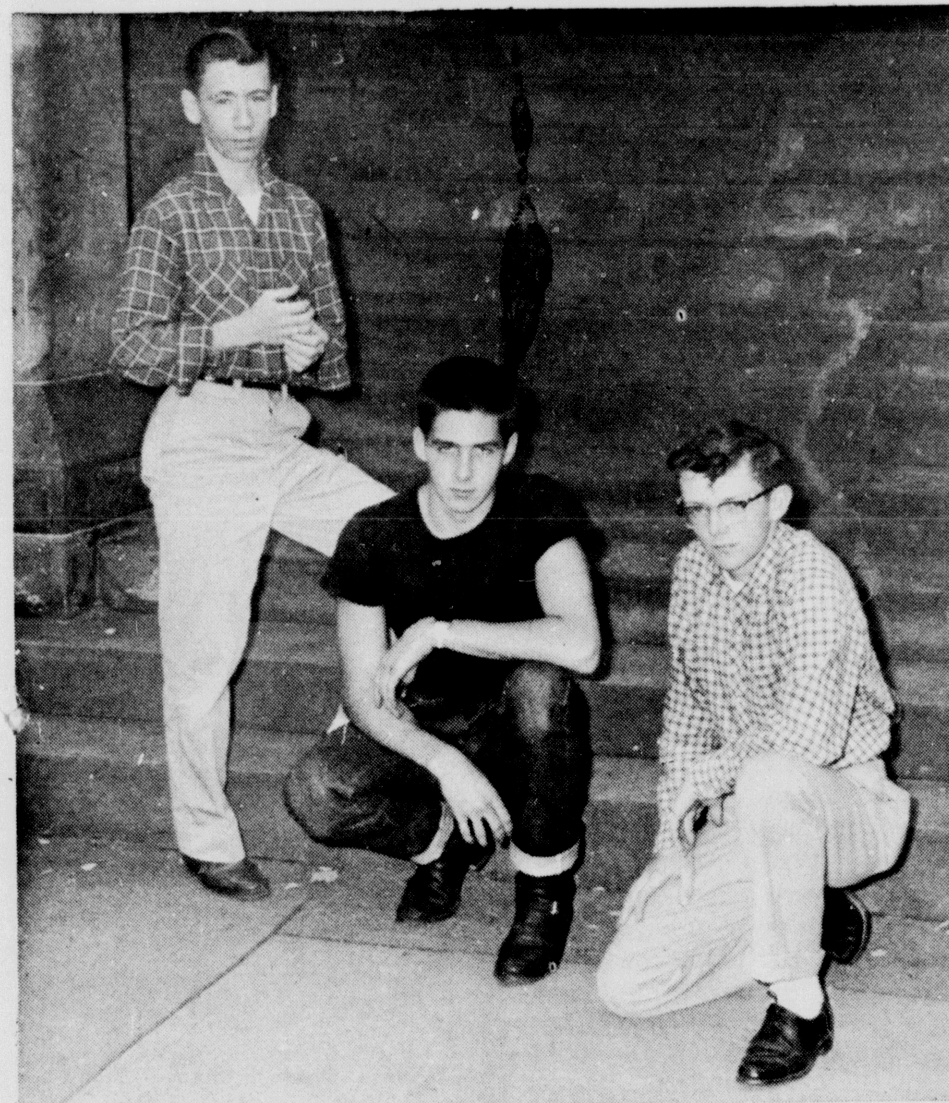

YMCA General Secretary Dan Walton stepped down and has been replaced by Julius Thorn . . . Byron W. Knapp has been named Community Chest head, succeeding Marion Pettigrew . . . Paul Harrington was chosen C. of C. president following Neil Culbertson's successful year . . . Dick Cook is guiding Jaycee activity . . . Sam Bonavita bumped Kornreich for the District Attorney post . . . and Donna Knapp took V. O. D. honors.

- SPORT HIGHLIGHTS OF 1957 -

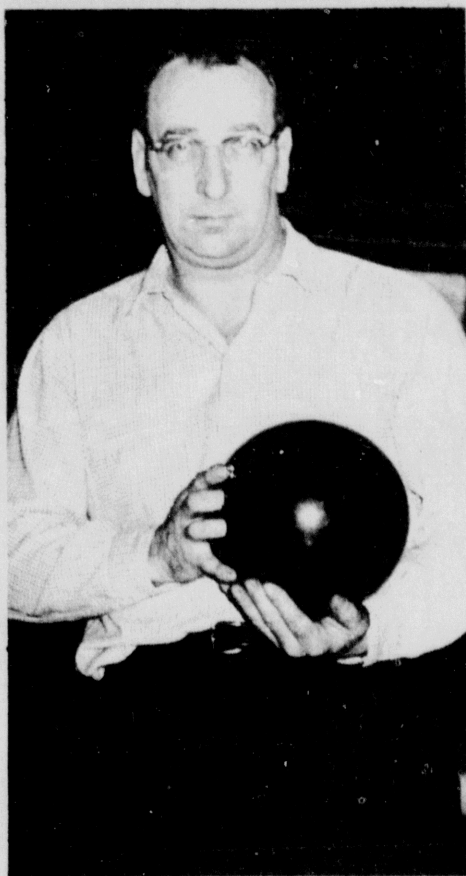

BOXING made a debut in Warren this fall through the joint efforts of manager Joe Fazio and the YMCA. In this main bout local slugger Tom Gerarde connects with a left to the jaw of Franklin Long. Interest has been keen.

HONORS were accorded Bruce Hook (standing) for winning the Pennsylvania 30 cal. rifle championship in September. Paul Mahaffy (r.) was second and Roger Rood placed seventh. Paul, with dad Roger Mahaffy, won the father-son match.

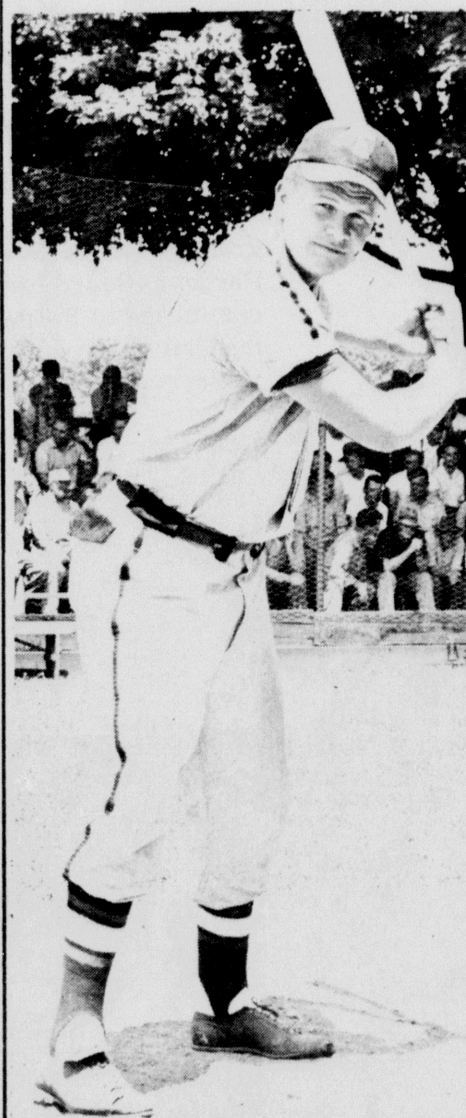

AGAIN SUCCESSFUL was the annual Red Leaf Sports Car Rally sponsored by the Auto Sportscar Club. Entries came from far and wide with such attractive vehicles as this Mercedes Benz 300.

ON JANUARY 21 Fred Baldensperger threatened the 300 circle when he fired a 289 on the Penn alleys. He put together 10 strikes in a row before missing one.

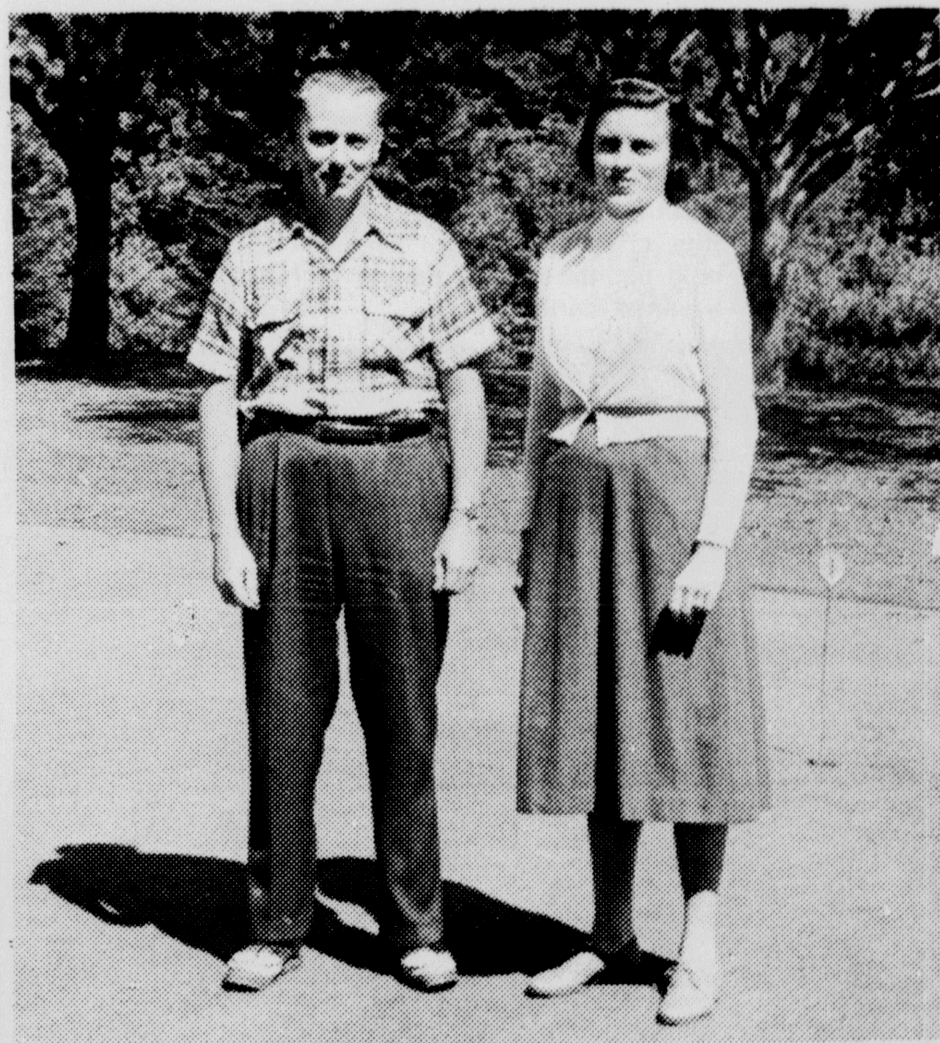

BEST MAN in the Kinzua Valley Golf Course tournament was Joey Brindis. He won with a five over par 77 in the top flight.

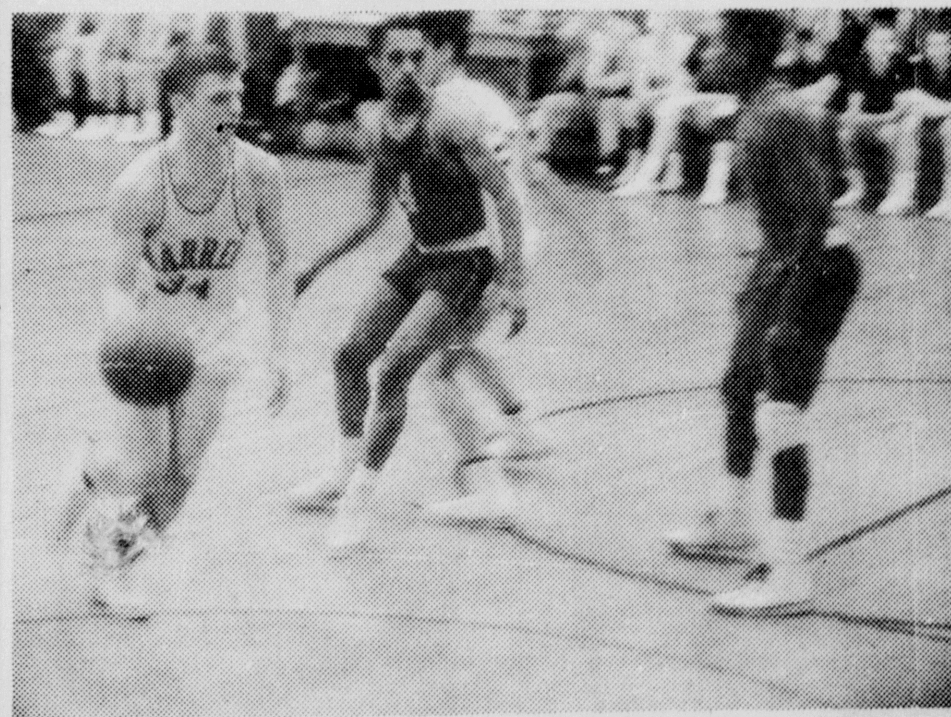

TO THE MINORS last spring went young Ed "Wink" Rickerson. He played Class D ball with North Platt, Ind., hitting .300, and plans to report for spring training with the Cleveland Indians' farm system next season.

AREA AND STATE ARCHERS both had their finest season in history. George Miller, of Warren, was one of many to bag his deer.

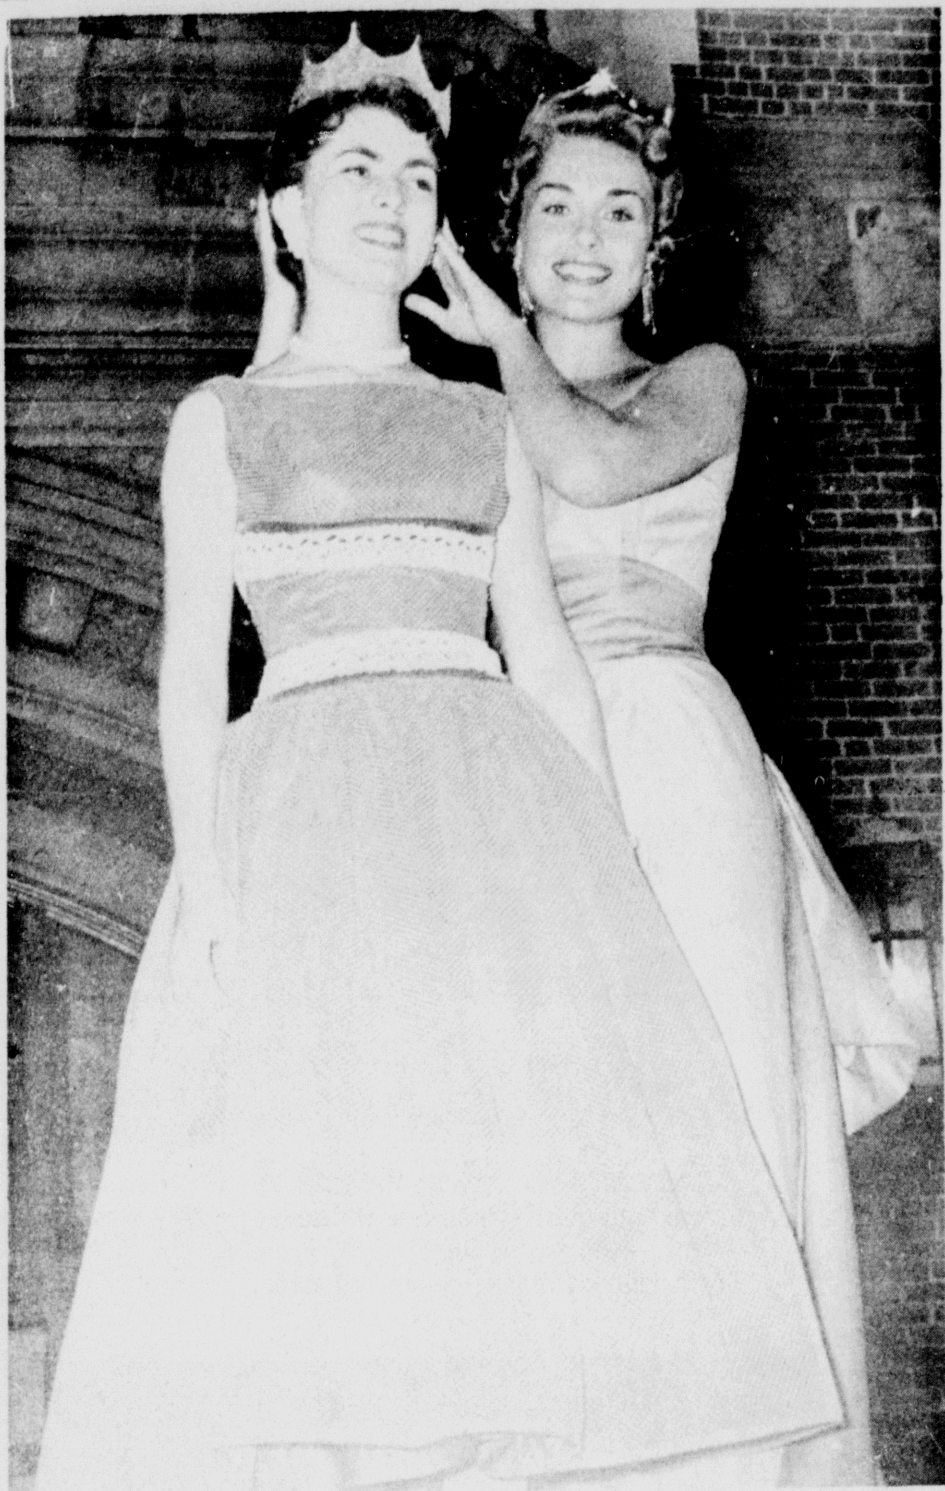

CVCC GOLF CHAMPIONS of 1957 are Tim Creal and Mrs. Mary Conarro. Returning to the helm, Creal defeated defending champion Skip Morine 10 and 9 in the finals.

WARREN CAGEMEN and Jack Karkosky have given the 57-58 cage season a good start.

Let's keep it Christmas all year

Christmas isn't just a day — it's a way you feel! When you feel good and kind and considerate of others — when you forget petty irritations and do your best to spread good cheer — you're extending the Spirit of Christmas as it can be extended all through the year. Let's try it in 1958 — keep it Christmas all year!

Let's keep it Christmas all year

Christmas isn't just a day — it's a way you feel! When you feel good and kind and considerate of others — when you forget petty irritations and do your best to spread good cheer — you're extending the Spirit of Christmas as it can be extended all through the year. Let's try it in 1958 — keep it Christmas all year!

AVOID ACCIDENTS!
Drive Safely
with Bear Wheel Alinement!

Most accidents are caused by carelessness—not just careless driving, but a failure on the part of motorists to keep their cars in safe driving condition.

Today, tomorrow and every day the problem of safety confronts the car owner. And the seriousness of the problem calls for immediate attention. Wheel and steering alinement, and wheel balance are of major importance to safety.

Is Your Car Safe To Drive?
If the wheels of your car do not roll straight and true, you are not only wearing away your tires unnecessarily and wasting gas and vital front end parts, but you may also be risking a serious accident. WHY TAKE A CHANCE?

Our Scientific Bear Service!
With our modern Bear equipment and skilled operators we are in a position to render an unusual service to the car owner. An inspection will uncover any condition which might lead to the ruin of your tires or a costly repair bill. It will take only a few minutes but—

It May Save Your Life!
You owe it to yourself and family to have the wheel and steering alinement of your car checked regularly. With wheels in perfect balance and alinement you can drive safely at any speed and enjoy greater driving pleasure.

BOWLING

The holiday season cut into league bowling in Warren this week and will do likewise again next week.

Bill Brown's 617 was high in the Commercial league. A roll-off between Pleasant Valley Inn and Texas Lunch at the Penn Alleys tonight at 7 p.m. will determine the first half champion of that league.

Mike Bleech topped the Men's City circuit with a 605 and Building Block Works won the first half title. In the Junior Industrial loop, Izz Trager's 578 was high. Morell's Restaurant captured the first half championship.

In the Merchants loop, teammates Howie Ladner and Bob Sandrock topped the week's action with 577 series. Simones and Cook won first half honors in the league.

Fred Aumer continued hot in the American K of C with 583. Mike Bleech topped the National Knights with 578, and Frank Regina fired 574 in the Sylvania loop.

George Gnage led the Shop loop with 545, and hit 531 to lead the Arcade Junior league. Lois Gelotte paced the Cosmotologists with 443.

THIRD ANNUAL YMCA Train Race will be held this Saturday starting at 1 o'clock in the Youth Canteen. The public is invited to attend this seasonal event. Admission is 25 cents, adults, and 10 cents, children.

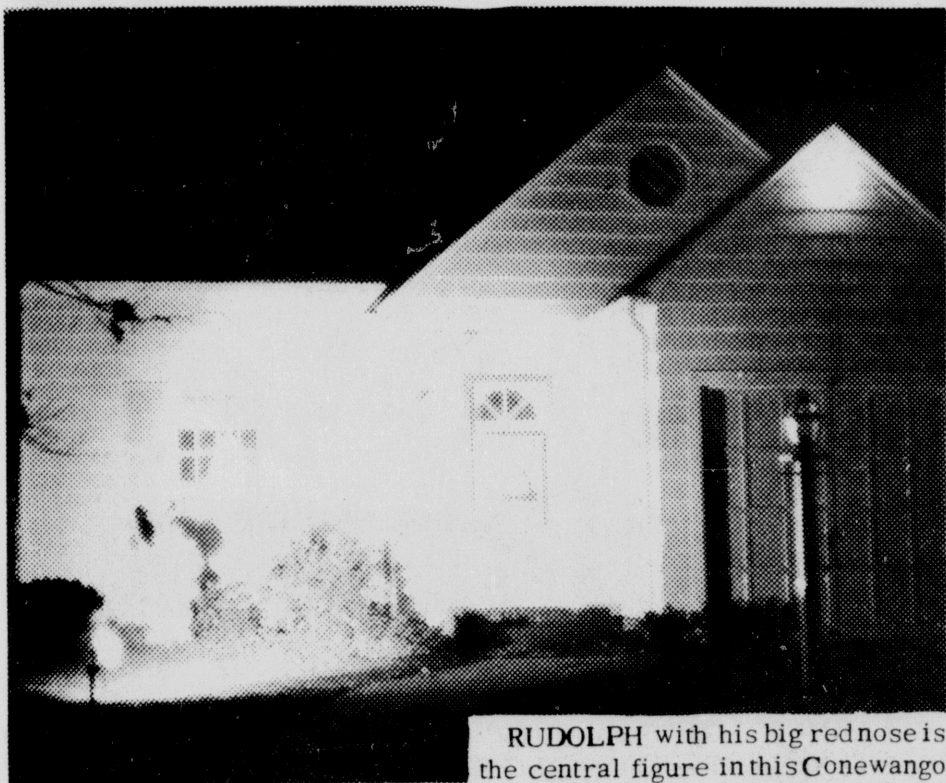

FINAL EXAMINATIONS were taken by these Jr. Red Cross life saving candidates at the YMCA last week. The class is under head instructor Paul Steinkamp, and is conducted in cooperation with the YMCA.

'JAZZ IS FUN!' — That's the theme of the full-hour "Timex All-Star Jazz Show," to be telecast by NBC-TV Monday, Dec. 30 from New York. Jazz headliners on the show will include Louis Armstrong (top left), who will appear with his All-Stars; Gene Krupa (top right) who will be seen with his trio and Charlie Ventura; Duke Ellington (bottom left), who will participate with his orchestra in a remote telecast from the Blue Note in Chicago; and Woody Herman (bottom right) and his Third Herd. Jack Teagarden, Bobby Hackett, Cozy Cole, Dave Brubeck, Carmen McRae and many others also will join in the jazz revels, with Steve Allen as emcee.

THIRD PLACE award in the Warren Garden Club's Christmas decoration contest was won by the residence of Nick Merenick, 323 Park st., Warren. Carols playing in the background added to the display.

HONORED with second place in the Garden Club holiday decorating contest was the Foster Maze residence, 315 Park st., Warren. A "NOEL" decorates the top of the doorway.

Business Favors Costly Defense Action

By Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON -- The spilling out of the contents of the supposedly top secret Gaither report represents an effort by business men supporters of President Eisenhower to put a burr under his saddle.

The report paints an alarming picture of American defense weaknesses. It was made by a committee appointed by the President, and it has been in his hands nearly two months.

He is reported by members of the committee to have said that while he personally agreed with the contents he felt the American people would not be willing to pay for the increased spending it would entail. That increase is placed as high as $60 billion in some stories; it is certainly well above the present $38 billion figure.

The President's comments convinced the committee that a flanking attack around him and his major advisor, Sherman Adams, would be necessary. They turned to Vice President Nixon first and in a private session warned him that they intended to get action.

It is denied that the present leaks to the press were Nixon's idea and they need not have been. Many members of the committee are familiar with the technique, having done service in the State Department, the Pentagon and with the Marshall Plan.

Anyway the story is out and it is a fearsome one. The Administration is still trying to sit on the lid, but the effort is vain. Congress has no choice, knowing that news of such danger and urgency exists, but to pursue the matter. It is the best break the Democrats could have in their effort to force a greater sense of urgency on the White House.

Some hint of the course the President may take regarding it may appear in his report to the nation about the NATO conference. If that is only another "chins up" effort, optimistic in tone, it will inflame the Gaither committee the more.

It wants a breakthrough -- in missiles, foreign aid both military and economic, education of all kinds and space conquest. Its offer is to speak, work and struggle for such a program with Congress and with the public.

The situation is a 180-degree turn away from the ways when the business community felt that the only government needed in Washington consisted of one three-letter agency: Ike. Their complaints would be ludicrous and a matter only for sarcasm if the subject matter were not vital, the danger now both clear and present.

It would be interesting to know how much of the changed atmosphere penetrates the Eisenhower sanctum. A constituent of one Southern Senator recently broke the news to the President in Adams' presence that the newspaper in his city, formerly all-out for Eisenhower, was bitterly complaining about the defense situation and inclined to find Eisenhower much at fault.

According to the constituent's report to the Senator, Adams turned on him furiously after they left the President, with a command to "bring your bad news to me, never inside the President's office." If this is indeed the Adams' technique today, it will be put to a severe test when the world's greatest sounding board -- the Senate floor with its unlimited debate -- gets back into operation.

VOCAL WISHES were given to the residents of the Rouse Home by members of the Warren Barbershop Chorus. The high and low notes meant just one greeting, "Merry Christmas". Home Superintendent

Robert Rowland announced early this week that the Rouse Home residents had received more Christmas parties and entertainments in 1957 than in the years with which he has been acquainted with the institution.

IT WAS A REAL SCENE of Christmas cheer at Stone Building, Warren State Hospital, Monday afternoon, when members of Girl Scout Troop 64, Lacy School, put on a Christmas program for the men patients of two wards, served them with refreshments and presented them a large Bingo-Matic set, all provided through penny-saving by the little girls.

Donnelly, Linda Welden, Ronnieanne Dalrymple, Nancy Barhight, Elaine Johnson, Julianne Hetesi, Linda Schager, Linda Ritchie, Cynthia Alspaugh, Cheryl Moll, Sheila Wright, Rebecca Wood and Rosemary Weaver. Mothers are Mrs. Wallace Wright, leader, Mrs. Donald Dalrymple and Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, assistants, Mrs. Richard North, Mrs. Richard Moll, Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. William Alspaugh. Mrs. Donnelly is also a volunteer worker at the State.

A FEW OF THOUSANDS of packages received each Christmas season for patients at Warren State Hospital. Yet there are still many hundreds of inmates who are not remembered by their families or are without homes.

CAMERON RALSON, internationally known lecturer, will speak on "The Battle for Men's Minds" at the Masons' St. John's Day Dinner at 6:30 Saturday evening, December 28, in Beatty cafeteria.

At this time there will also be the presentation of past master jewels to retiring masters Dr. John Lasher, North Star Lodge 241, and James Nordine, Joseph Warren Lodge 726.

All reservations must be made by tonight (Thursday) by calling the Temple, Richard Metzger, or Jerry Rowley.

SHEEPSKIN CAN BE AS COSTLY AS MINK when it comes in the form of a college diploma.

Today, it takes between five and seven thousand dollars to send your child through four years of college. It's worth it, though, with the latest figures showing that college graduates earn on the average about a hundred thousand dollars more during their working life than high school graduates. Begin saving while you still hear "the patter of little feet" around the house. Then you can save regularly in small amounts and your college fund will grow right along with your child. Some banks today even offer College Club savings plans.

THE BOY SCOUTS new winter camping lodge at Camp Olmsted is just about completed for use by boys in Warren County and Ludlow.

The building is situated about one-quarter of a mile above the present Olmsted camp site to be away from waters which would be created with the proposed construction of the Kinzua Dam.

CHRISTMAS ON WHEELS

Those who spend the balance of Christmas Day and much of the following winter having fun with items which are found wrapped under the tree must be unhappy if runners are involved, and overjoyed if wheels play a major role. This is predicated on the weather signs which exist as we type in the midst of sunshine.

It was so mild on the opening days of winter that the golfers were almost stripped down to their shorts, and the sun tan bottle was only a few degrees away from popularity.

But this is not Christmas, even though many do not have to wait until spring to learn how a wheeled present works. The fact that it does not seem like Christmas and actually disappoints many is proof that the day has come to mean a bit more than receiving. We are accustomed to putting away many of our presents for brighter days and prefer to have the atmosphere that we have come to associate with December 25.

It makes us wonder how they manage it in southern areas. We, of course, are meditating in the play realm. The fact that there is so much more to this day than the good-time aspect is given quick proof by its effect on those who can not ride into it on a reindeer and out on a bob sled.

THEY WANT MORE

The taste of ice skating which has been provided Warren residents through the rink on Beaty field has developed a large following, proof of which can be seen on any cold day or night when ice is halfway good enough to use. But in this inconsistent climate in which many of the days are neither summer nor winter, and in fact are very unseasonal, the recreation which depends on weather is difficult to provide by natural means.

We always have been a strong supporter of those sports which take your lungs out of doors, or at least expose them to air which is not laden with tobacco smoke and other impurities. We believe ice skating and swimming fit nicely into this category.

They also are not limited to ages. All can participate, if judgment is used. The elder adults probably should not engage in a fast game of hockey or see how many lengths of the pool they can swim, but they can don the blades or the swimming suit with healthy results.

But to fully enjoy these sports there should be facilities provided to keep them popular. Ice skating needs brine pipes so that there can be ice even on those warm winter days. In fact these make the best days to be out, and draw the largest crowds. It is too bad the Beaty project was rushed so fast that pipes were not included.

It suggests that the next time we build such an area, or the next time we pave a large portion of some centrally located playground, we consider the installation of pipes in the cement. Later we might find the money for equipment with which to force cooling elements through these pipes and skating could run from late fall to early spring.

The same goes for swimming. Why limit it to sixty days of summer weather? At those prices we should have a sport that can be enjoyed every day of the year. It is one of the best body builders known and can easily become an integrated part of the school health program.

A moving wall or two and it lets in the sunshine and fresh air when the season permits. So little more to spend and so much more to be enjoyed, and so very much more benefit to be derived.

FIVE-MAN RIDDLED

We have seen the five-man defense in basketball thoroughly riddled on two recent occasions. Once was when the Style Shop tried to use it against the Erie Pros last week. The pros, despite their own early season form as a team, shot through, around, and over it to slap the Stylists, 89 to 56. The visitors actually coasted a bit after the opening stanza and George Hesch never opened up, contenting himself with feeding and play-making.

The other bit of riddling was done by Red Auerbach, coach of the Boston Celtics, who believes the man-to-man defense is the best for the game. You can read his opinions by visiting the library and asking for the December 17 issue of the Christian Science Monitor.

His views were given at a meeting of basketball writers and followed statements in favor of the zone defense. He said he had watched Wake Forest and Maryland play a zone game and there was so little shooting that he had left the game completely bored.

He proposes that colleges dump the zone defense, even as the pros have, and adopt a modified version of the 24-second rule. This rule makes it necessary for a team to shoot within 24 seconds after getting the ball.

The Olympic rule is thirty seconds. Auerbach does not suggest colleges make it quite that fast, but he suggests something be done to force action and break up stalling.

He also said a good little man can find ways to play a tall man. He mentioned Slater Martin of the St. Louis Hawks, five feet-ten, who few teams go out of their way to take into a pivot. He has learned how to lick such maneuvers.

He suggests that aggressiveness on the part of a small player can do much to overcome height disadvantages.

To which we add that if that average height, or short boy, will spend out-of-season hours learning footwork, dribbling, passing, and all-around ball handling, his aggressiveness will be of some real value and not end up at the foul line or out of bounds for the opposition.

WHAT'S NEXT

The major seasons for Pennsylvania hunters are gone, and all that you need worry about now is mailing your big game kill tag. Because of the Christmas rush the game officials probably will overlook your tardiness, and it might save you a stiff fine. You were supposed to mail it within five days after the close of the season.

The only game we know which you still can shoot this winter is the big snowshoe rabbit, or the hare. He becomes legal game on December 28, and continues to be a difficult target until January 4. Especially difficult if there is snow.

The trappers can continue bringing in mink and muskrat until January 18, and the skunk and opossum fail to get any rest, if you are interested. The fact that few will bother with them assures their continued supply.

The next really interesting trapping season will be from February 15 to March 15. You then may catch four beavers, using no more than ten traps, and tagging the same within ten days after the season's close.

Meanwhile, you can go fishing. All but trout are legal and cold water fishing might prove more lucrative and fun than you have imagined. The meat is good and those big ones might be a little hungry.

MOVE OVER DEER

A new kind of big game is attracting much gun attention these days and if it can be made sufficiently plentiful may prove as attractive as the deer which are crowding our forests. We are referring to the turkey.

We doubt if the turkey ever becomes quite as easy to find as the deer and so may not really threaten the four-legged game as a major attraction. Most hunters are in the woods for an outing and are not serious enough about their sport to work at finding turkeys. A deer often walks by and the greenest come home with the finest. This does not happen so often with turkeys.

Even though the turkey population grows rapidly, it never will be their nature to become easy targets. The harder they are hunted the more cagey they are apt to become. And they are mighty smart when they are little more than a yolk in the old gobbler's eye.

But the turkeys already are attracting hunters from other areas. If they can be multiplied and a few good kills are made, Pennsylvania will have another bit of game to bring in the hunting dollars.

A big share of your hunters soon may decide they would rather have a wild turkey than a deer. The meat is excellent and there is not more of it than a family can use. The bird is easier to bring out of the woods than a dead deer. And most deer do not include trophies that anyone would want to keep. A turkey feather represents more hunting skill than a doe's tail, or even a pair of two-pointed horns.

NO NUTRIA WANTED

If you have any nutria around the place, keep them locked up. And if you are thinking of importing some, forget it. The game commission frowns on nutria, so much so that it might even reach into your pocket-book for a mite of a fine if you let them loose in the state.

A nutria? It is bigger than a muskrat and smaller than a beaver, and resembles both. But its fur is not as valuable and it eats food that we want our muskrats and ducks to enjoy. So leave the nutria in South America, says the commission.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER

If you want to know how dry or wet it was in some historical year, several hundred years back, cut down a big tree and have a look. It is there in the rings. Fat rings suggest wet years. Narrow rings, dry years.

This is being done so accurately by experts that they can tell you all about the weather for the past five hundred years, and quite a bit about it for the past three thousand years.

This works in other ways. As a result of this knowledge, it also is possible to determine the age of a village or building by studying the wood of which it is made.

And teamed up with astronomy this may make it possible to tell us more than what happened yesterday. We also may be able to predict the future.

STYLERS DROP TOURNEY GAME

Defending champion Friendly Grill knocked the Warren Style Shop out of the second annual Jamestown YMCA Invitational Basketball tournament with a 74 to 71 win over the Clothiers on the Jamestown Y court Monday night. Coach Mel Bines' quintet started slowly and found themselves on the short end of a 21 to 5 count at the end of the first quarter. Then they caught fire and came within 5 points of the winners at halftime.

Early in the second half, the Style Shop spurted ahead of the Grillers 37 to 33 but an eight-point scoring spree by Jamestown soon erased the lead.

Ed Rickerson hooped 18 points and Ron Isackson scored 16 points for the Style Shop. Denny Johnson with 18 points and Bill Jewett with 16 points were the high Grillers.

Y JUNIOR LEAGUE

The Knicks grabbed their third win of the season in the Y Junior basketball loop last week by edging the Hawks, 36 to 35. Haer was top man for the Knicks with 12 points. Top scorer in the ball game was Johnson of the Hawks with 17 points.

JV'S TRIM EAGLES

The Warren junior varsity racked up their third win of the campaign Friday night by clipping the wings of the Youngville reserves, 56 to 37. Mike Cashman and Doug Lind scored 13 points each and Johnny Barr tallied 11 markers to match the scoring of the Youngville squad. The Baby Dragons have now won four consecutive games after dropping their first contest of the season.

DRAGONS CLIP EAGLES, PLAY ALUMNI TOMORROW

The Warren High cagers racked up their fifth consecutive win of the season at the expense of the Youngville Eagles, 51 to 33, on Beaty Court last Friday night. The victory gave the Blue and White a 6 and 1 record for the season.

Both squads started fast in Friday's game with the Dragons taking a 17 to 14 lead over the visiting Youngville five at the end of the first quarter. The pace slowed in the second frame and Warren led at halftime, 26 to 19. Warren outscored the Eagles in each of the last two quarters to gain its second verdict of the season over Youngville.

Jack Karkosky paced the Warren attack with 18 points. Chuck Halfast was high for Youngville with 12 markers.

Tomorrow night the Dragons will play an Alumni team composed of members of the 1956-57 basketball team. Graduated members of that team are Charles Still, Steve Lindquist, Bill Dahl, Ed Rickerson, Jim Mohnkern, Dick Danielson, Tom Schaeffer, John Berdine, Dick Kremer, and Bob Van Blois.

In the prelim, the Style Shop will meet a team of ex-college and high school cagers including George Hesch, Ron Isackson, Harry Danielson, Dick Koebley, Bob Wilson, Don Dick and Bill Massa.

YMCA CITY LEAGUE

Undeclared Greens widened their lead in the YMCA city basketball league with a 80 to 61 win over second place Y-Five last Thursday night. Greens led by only five points going into the last quarter but outscored the Y-Five, 22 to 8 in that period to win the game. Lindquist paced Greens' attack with 27 points. Ed Rickerson scored 18 for the Y-Five.

Third-place Guiffres downed the winless K. of C. team, 72 to 67. Ben Obinger racked up 29 markers for the winners and Ed Lindberg hooped 25 points for K. of C.

GRA-Y ACTIVITY

North Warren, McClintock and East were winners in Gra-Y basketball activity last Saturday afternoon.

North Warren held Home Street scoreless in three quarters of their contest and registered a 12 to 4 win over the Home Streeters. Chase paced the North Warren attack with 6 points.

McClintock rolled over Jefferson, 34 to 8. Johnson was high man for the winners with 19 markers. Smith scored 4 points for Jefferson.

East Street bounced Lacy-South by the same 34 to 8 count. Haer netted 20 points for the winners and Merineck scored 6 Lacy-South points.

STYLERS HIT CENTURY MARK IN CHAUTAUQUA LOOP GAME

Warren's Style Shop cagers clobbered a visiting Marlin Rockwell team from Jamestown, 109 to 54, in a Chautauqua County basketball league game on the Warren Armory floor last Saturday night. The Stylers racked up a commanding 42 to 21 lead at the halfway mark and played fairly even ball with the Jamestowners in the third quarter, the only frame in which the visitors could garner more than a dozen points. But in the final quarter the Stylers poured 38 counters through the Armory nets to hit three figures.

Gail Nelson and Ed Rickerson supplied the big Warren scoring punch with 29 and 24 points. High scorer in the game was Carter, Jamestown center, who racked up 35 points, more than half of his team's output.

AREA CAGE ROUNDUP

WARREN COUNTY -- Warren beat Youngville, 51 to 33, Sheffield clobbered Southwestern, N.Y., 61 to 43, and Townville dumped Tidioute 72 to 40.

BEATY OPENS JANUARY 7

The Beaty Junior high school floor team, under mentor Bob Fey, opens its season January 7 with a Chadakoin Valley league tilt against Southwestern on the home hardwood.

During the January-February period the future Dragons face a 14-game schedule with only a pair of non-league battles with a strong rival Bradford quintet.

Last season the Beaty five, always strong contenders for the Valley loop crown, finished in second place with a 9-3 account. Washington turned up with the title after scoring a 10-2 record.

The tentative team roster, which shows lots of possibility, consists of Dave Frantz, Rolland Poust, Jim Redding, Jerry Wilson, Dave Harrison, Ron Schneider, Tom Yerg, Bill Sedwick, Guy Albaugh, Barry Johnson, Anthony Vavala, Jim Hubbard, Eddie Check, Jack Hamilton and Bert Bliss. There are also plenty of good prospects in the seventh grade, if necessary.

MAIN BOUT to be staged in the YMCA ring tonight (Thursday) will feature Tom "Rocky" Gerarde (pictured), of Warren, and Sugar Nat Sherrel, of Erie. The light heavyweight classic is scheduled for about 9 o'clock.

Gerarde's trainer is Sam Fazio.

Acting as assistant coach to Fey this season is Dale Jones. Carlton Kurz is the faculty manager and the student manager is Loree Riggs.

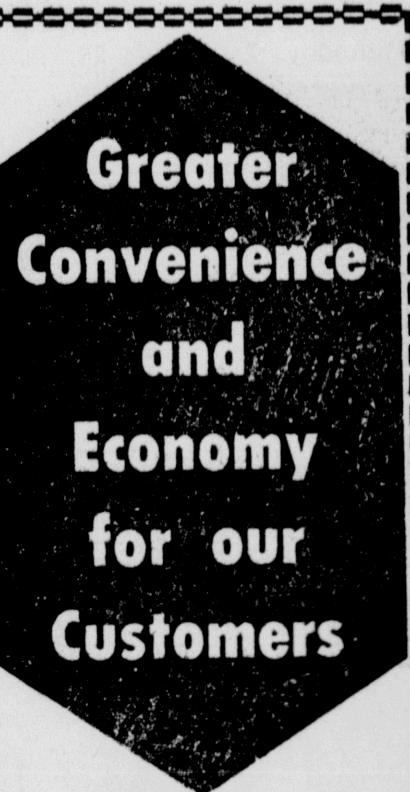

COURT LEAGUE FORMED WITH 100 BOYS

One hundred boys in junior and senior high school will play on a dozen teams which have been entered in the Warren Church basketball league, and will start firing January 3. There really are two circuits, senior and junior.

The senior league is composed of boys of high school age and will play two games a week, Tuesday and Thursday, on the First Methodist, First Baptist, and Grace Methodist floors. There will be two rounds to each half.

Teams entered in this league are First Baptist, First Methodist, St. Joseph, First Presbyterian and two from the Grace Methodist.

The junior league is limited to boys from seventh, eighth, and ninth grades and will play one round the first half. Its games will be played Saturdays on the Grace Methodist floor. The teams entered are St. Paul Lutheran, Holy Redeemer, First Lutheran, St. Joseph, and two from the Grace Methodist.
